FEATURES

- 32 Tracking the Wild Ambulance Fleet: Part I BY LOREN MARSHALL. Land-vehicle tracking is the hot new sector in the navigation electronics market. As large EMS services begin to buy them, tracking systems are sketching the future of field resource management on computer map screens.
- 55 The Press: Our Overlooked Ally BY JERRY L. DURNBAUGH. The best time to look for good media relations is not when you have a disaster. This former reporter and ambulance service owner looks at how to foster good media relations.
- 60 Paramedic Communications BY PAUL DUTKY, MD. Radio communications are reviewed from both a technical and clinical perspective. Topics include a review of radio etiquette, and EMS communication protocol and brief but relevant communications.
- 64 Trauma Assessment and the RACE Against Time BY DANNY BARELA. The acute trauma patient requires swift, definitive action since he cannot be stabilized in the field, and he cannot afford delays for secondary assessment or for less than critical management by EMTs at the scene.

C.A.M. KIT™
New and improved from ESP

The choice is yours.

Now you can order the Complete Airway Maintenance (C.A.M.) Kit with a new top insert to hold your E.T. tubes in their original sterile packages. Or if you prefer, the original kit is still available with the pre-cut foam top insert. Both kits are designed to end the needless searching for critical airway equipment. In an emergency situation, when you need your equipment the quickest, it's all at your fingertips in the C.A.M. Kit.

The rugged aluminum case, with its sturdy aluminum hinges, latches, and handle have remained unchanged. The C.A.M. Kit will take daily abuse and remain "in-service" for the next emergency.

Write or call for free literature.
