

April 1992 Vol.17 No.4 $3.00

jems

JOURNAL OF EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICES

Update on Cardiac Meds

AHA Sets New Pace for Cardiac Care

Contents

JEMS (THE JOURNAL OF EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICES)

COVER

Design

Kathy Bush

Illustration

Bonnie Kuhn

FEATURES

- 42  A Step-by-Step Look at Lower Extremity Trauma
By Anthony J. Martinez, REMT-P, and M. Jack Lee, REMT-P
CEU Article

- 58 Adenosine: An Old Drug Learns a New Trick
By Susan P. Duffy, RPh, EMT-A, Paul M. Murphy III, BS, NREMT-P, and James C. Schatzle, BS, NREMT-P

- 60 Magnesium Comes of Age
By Edward T. Dickinson, MD, NREMT-P

- 65 Cardiology Practicum: The Push for 12-Lead EKGs
By Mike Taigman and Syd Canan

- 70 Charge! FDA Recommendations for Maintaining Defibrillator Readiness
By Roger D. White, MD, Kaye F. Chesemore and the Defibrillator Checklist Task Force

- 74 Clot Busters: The Future of EMS Thrombolytics
By Eileen Handberg, RN, EMT-P, MSN, Todd Keith, EMT-P, and Paul Rucinski, MD

DEPARTMENTS

- 13 Letters
25 Inside EMS
26 AIDS Watch
82 JEMS Marketplace Directory
88 Classifieds

- 74 False-color scanning electron micrograph (SEM) showing the clotting process. Fibrin (appearing above as pink strands) forms a binding network that traps red blood cells (appearing as orange discs).

ONRI/SCIENCE PHOTO LIBRARY COURTESY OF SMITHKLINE BEECHAM

COLUMNS

- 5 The Publisher's Page
By Jim Page
Realistic Expectations

- 8 Guest Comment
By Roger D. White, MD
AED: A Physician's Responsibility

- 21 Special Report
By Marion Angell Garza
A Change of Heart? The 1992 Conference on CPR and Emergency Cardiac Care

- 24 Special Report
By Marion Angell Garza
EMS Leaders Talk, but is FEMA Listening?

- 39 Tricks of the Trade
By Mike Smith
More New Products You've Never Seen

- 85 Current Research
By Bruce Goldfarb

- 93 Inroads
By Doug Wolfberg

- 98 Spotlight
By Nancy K. Hays, EMT
Educating for the Future